

Rusk Says Meetings Held In Good Faith Can Solve Problems

Secretary Opens Navigation Congress

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Monday international problems can be solved "if nations can meet in good faith to consider them together."

In a short speech at the 20th International Navigation Congress, Rusk also said it is of the "utmost importance" that non-governmental cooperation be increased between countries as well as formal government contacts.

The secretary of state did not refer directly to the Berlin dispute in addressing the gathering. But in noting that the congress was considering measures to accommodate atom-powered ships to seaports, he said:

"We can best find the solutions to problems common to all our countries and work effectively in promoting the welfare of all, if nations can meet, in good faith to consider them together, as you will undertake to do here."

Rusk said President Kennedy keenly advocates increasing international exchange of information and scientific collaboration.

Federal Transit Agency Urged By Rockefeller

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Monday urged a concerted and coordinated approach to solving the country's railroad crisis.

"There is no doubt that we are in a railroad crisis of major proportions," he said.

Specifically, Rockefeller proposed creation of a federal department of transportation responsible for national policy for all forms of transportation.

He recommended also repeal of the present 10 per cent federal tax on passenger fares. If the railroads could keep the tax, he said, it would mean $200 million a year for them.

Rockefeller appeared before an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner to propose a prompt three-way consolidation of the New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads.

He headed a group of 12 state and city officials from New York, including seven mayors, who support the New York Central's position in its struggle with the C&O for control of the financially troubled B&O.

After the Rockefeller testimony, the presidents of the C&O and the B&O issued a statement opposing inclusion of Central in a three-way merger.

It is impossible because of Central's huge debt and losses, said Walter J. Tuohy of the C&O and Jervis Langdon Jr. of the B&O. Adding Central's debt and losses to B&O's would make a total debt of $1.45 billion, they said.

They also said B&O shareholders chose C&O over Central by a ratio of 34 to 1 in recent competing stock exchange offers.

The two railroad presidents said their railroads were willing to consider including Central after the "reasonable first - step - first" of B&O and C&O affiliation.

Britain's Lloyd Pays Philadelphia Church For Fence Burned By Redcoats

LONDON (AP)—Chancellor Selwyn Lloyd—who's got Britain in a credit squeeze—has spent his own money to help square an act of Redcoat vandalism at Philadelphia in the American Revolution.

Lloyd sent his personal check for 6 pounds, 8 shillings 1 pence—$18—to the Rev. Joseph Koci Jr., rector of Philadelphia's historic St. Peter's Episcopal church.

It was an act of almost unprecedented unbending by British officialdom.

A month ago, the Philadelphia minister sent the British government a bill for $18 plus $756,000 interest for a church fence that went into British campfires.

(In Philadelphia, the Rev. Mr. Koci said he had received the check and was very grateful. "As for the compound interest, we can willingly forget it in the interest of Anglo-American amity," he said, adding that his church could start its third century "with all accounts settled.")

The rector said that in the hard winter of 1777-78, a group of Royal Artillery men under the command of a Maj. Edward Williams—a Welsh name—tore down the fence for firewood.

With that accusation—whether he knew it or not—the Rev. Mr. Koci twice wounded the chancellor, whose job corresponds to that of secretary of the U.S. Treasury.

Lloyd is a Welshman and also a former Royal Artillery officer.

He has a reputation of being a safe man—that is, like all Welshmen he possesses a canny respect for pounds or dollars.

But while some of his fellow citizens clamored against his policies to fight inflation and boost exports, the chancellor must have been thinking about the Philadelphia fence.

His private secretary announced he had sent a letter to the Rev. Mr. Koci which said in part: "The chancellor has asked me to thank you for your letter of Aug. 11 about damage allegedly done to the fence round your church by British troops in the winter of 1777-78.

"The chancellor observes that, as this is said to have occurred before the Treaty of Versailles in 1783, Pennsylvania was at that time a British colonial territory.

"The convention is that claims by citizens of colonial territories against the government—which have not been settled by the date of independence—lie against the successor government unless a special arrangement is made to the contrary."

The chancellor advised the Rev. Mr. Koci to sue the U.S. government or the State of Pennsylvania for the $18 and the interest.

And then came this bit of unbending.

"I am, however," said the secretary, "asked by the chancellor—

Boy, 15, To Be Probed

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Georgia Pardon and Parole Board promised Monday to investigate the murder conviction of a 15-year-old Negro whose death sentence touched off a wave of protests at the urging of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The boy, Preston Cobb Jr., would become the youngest person electrocuted in modern Georgia history if his sentence is executed on Sept. 22. He was convicted of murdering a 70-year-old white man, Frank Coleman Dumas, after an argument over fishing in Dumas' lake.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. GM Baltimore Plants Closed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chevrolet Assembly plant and the Fisher Body Co. Baltimore plants were closed Monday as 3,100 members of the United Auto Workers Union went on strike.

The walkouts came after marathon negotiations between representatives of two UAW locals and the two companies failed to resolve local issues.

The workers at the two plants in Baltimore's Fort Holabird section left their jobs at the same time other workers at General Motors plants across the country also began walkouts.

Pickets took up positions and began the slow strike march outside all gates of the plants.

"We failed to reach agreement on vital local issues and were forced to order the workers out," said Louis Jeffries, negotiator for UAW Local 678 at the Chevrolet. About 1,750 workers at the Chevrolet plant are represented by the local.

At the adjoining Fisher Body plant, 1,442 workers are members of Local 239 of the UAW.

Jeffries said the last strike against General Motors here was in October 1958, and lasted for three weeks.

The details of the local grievances were not disclosed.

JFK Arranges Talks On Berlin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plunges into new talks on the Berlin crisis Tuesday amid signs that the United States and Russia may be moving closer toward negotiations on the Berlin-German problem.

The President ended a long weekend on Cape Cod and returned to Washington Monday for extensive conferences Tuesday and Wednesday with "neutralist" Presidents Sukarno of Indonesia and Mobutu Keita of Mala. They are fresh from the 25-nation neutralist conference in Belgrade.

Sukarno and Keita carried a message from the conference urging the President to agree to a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on Berlin and other cold war problems. A similar appeal has been laid before Khrushchev by India's Jawaharlal Nehru.

The State Department comment was in response to Khrushchev's weekend statement that there were "hopeful signs" for East-West negotiations. Sukarno and Keita were ready to urge that such talks get underway as soon as possible.

No fixed dollar limit on hospital room and board

In most cases of hospitalized illness your Standard Blue Cross program pays the full cost of your semi-private room and board. (If you're in a private room, you get an allowance equal to the hospital's average semi-private room and board charge.)

Ordinary hospitalization policies, by contrast, set a fixed dollar limit on hospital room and board benefits. A typical program might allow $10 or $15 a day. But the semi-private hospital room and board charge could easily amount to $20 a day. Who pays the difference? You do... out of your own pocket.

Full coverage of your semi-private room and board costs (and a liberal private room benefit) is another reason why Blue Cross-Blue Shield is your best protection against the cost of hospital and medical care.

Probe Of Reformatory Administration Ordered

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin directed the Washington County grand jury Monday to investigate the administration of the State Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville.

Judge McLaughlin said no previous grand jury ever had investigated "internal operations at the reformatory . . . to determine if there is malfeasance or mistake, but this is something I think you ought to look into."

He made the request as the September term grand jury took office.

Judge McLaughlin cited the dismissal late last month of Robert B. Clopper, assistant reformatory superintendent. He was removed by the State Board of Correction upon the recommendation of Superintendent Clement K. Ferling.

"I think the press is concerned with the unfair proceedings in the Clopper case," he said, indicating he thought Clopper should have been given a hearing to answer the board's charges.

"But you are not to look into that," the jurist said. He referred to reports of "poor morale" at the institution, and said he would be "remiss in my duty" if he didn't take cognizance of them.

Judge McLaughlin claimed there were many rumors involving the reformatory—one of them that certain officials write notes to each other because they are not on friendly terms and do not speak.

Turnpike Interchange Crash Fatal To Three

READING, Pa. (AP) — Three persons were killed and three others injured Monday when a car smashed into a parked tractor-trailer during heavy fog at the Reading-Lancaster Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

State Police said the dead and injured were all from Brooklyn, N. Y., and were riding in the car. Police said the driver of the car apparently turned off the turnpike onto the exit and then changed his mind, and attempted to swerve back onto the turnpike.

The car smashed into the parked truck, hurling one of its occupants to the pavement where a passing truck ran over the body.

Annapolis Convention Anniversary Observed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes joined with historically-minded Marylanders Monday in the 175th anniversary observance of the Annapolis Convention of 1786 in the Old Maryland Senate Chamber.

The governor said the convention, which laid the groundwork for the Constitutional Convention of 1787, was "quite evidently an occasion of great historical significance."

The governor reviewed much of the history of the Annapolis convention which drew delegates from five states — New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Maryland, the host state, did not officially participate because of a disagreement between its Senate and House.

The Senate maintained the meeting, which was originally called to discuss tariff matters, might be an affront to the Continental Congress.

The meeting was scheduled here by James Madison of Virginia, who made arrangements for the session at the direction of Gov. Patrick Henry of Virginia.

John Dickenson, a native Marylander, presided over the convention as Delaware's representative. Dickenson had at various times been president (as governors were

Waterborne Firemen Save Judge's Home

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A quickly organized, waterborne expedition of fire fighters saved the St. Helena Island home of Judge Stedman Prescott from destruction.

The Sunday night blaze heavily damaged the roof and second-floor library in the home of the Court of Appeals jurist before it was brought under control. Some 100 firemen carried the fire from spreading to the rest of the mansion.

A damage estimate was not available.

St. Helena is located in the Severn River a half mile below Herald Harbor and approximately five miles up river from Annapolis. It can be reached only by boat.

Seven volunteer fire companies responded to the alarm, and firemen were ferried to the island by a dozen private boats in the Herald Harbor area.

The Naval Academy sent its fire boat to supply water and a Coast Guard cutter stood by to assist firemen.

Charles H. Steele, deputy inspector of the Anne Arundel County Fire Prevention, said the blaze apparently started from malfunctioning electrical equipment.

He said the roof and second-floor library were "seriously damaged". The blaze was confined to the center two-story portion of the mansion. Steele said most of the valuable furniture in the house either escaped damage or was damaged "very slightly".

Declarer brought home a rather enterprising slam on a somewhat unusual play today.

After West's preemptive bid, North made a take-out double, and South chose to show his strength by a big club jump. North, having all the controls, went on to six.

The opening lead of the nine of spades held the earmarks of a singleton, so declarer went up with the ace, and discarded his remaining spade on the ace of hearts. He then cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed himself in with a heart, duly noting the fall of East's king. Trumps were drawn West, and declarer observed that South was now faced with the problem of holding his loss in diamonds to a single trick.

On a rapid analysis, it would seem that he must find the diamonds three-three with the honors favorably located. In view of West's participation, declarer decided to play him for the king of diamonds. He might be tempted, therefore, to lead toward the ace, and play back to the ten on the return. On a recheck, however, South reached the conclusion that such an attack could not succeed. On the basis of the preemptive bid and the fall of the cards, he decided that West had seven

Group 5 Discusses Problems

Many aspects of the entire farm labor problem were discussed by members of Planning Group 5, of the Allegany County Farm Bureau at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wilson, Midland.

The group definitely was against farm labor being subject to the wage and hour law and that farm workers should be unionized by law.

A lack of an adequate number of competent farm workers during the harvest and other seasonal periods was discussed as a continuing problem in many farm areas, even though such workers may be unemployed during the major portion of the year.

The planning group also was against employing children under 16 for farm work.

Federal aid to education also was discussed. It was agreed that the group recommends that the schools should be kept on the state and county basis. Each state or county is to govern its own school program and pay its teachers.

It was recommended that under the food distribution program the stored surplus foods should be used to furnish food for the needy children. It was stressed that many children are in school, who do not have sufficient food for a growing child; so the schools should provide them.

Other topics considered were taxes, "which are so high now many people are not able to meet them;" in civil defense, favored shelters; improve the United Nations by naming women to it; not in favor of the electoral college; and agricultural credit as a "good way to keep the youngster on the farm."

Philip Brode conducted the meeting. It was decided to have the next session October 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brode, Hoffman.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Davis, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey, Shaft; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Delbrook, Mount Savage; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Porter, Rt. 3, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Loar, Loatown and Mrs. Brode.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — I don't want to sound like Steve McQueen's press agent—but he's so popular he keeps getting one big assignment after the other. Before he left for London to join Robert Wagner in "The War Lover," Steve told me he's signed to do "Smile of a Woman" for Columbia.

"With that title—what else could it be but the story of the Mona Lisa, to be exact, the theft of the Mona Lisa. I play the artist engaged to copy the masterpiece who turns out a job slick enough to fool the world but destroys the artist because his talent can never be recognized," said Steve. I must say it's a timely theme the way great art treasures are being stolen these days.

Brigid Bazlen, who was so good in "Honeymoon Machine" with McQueen, is being sought for "Smile," a Philip Wasman production with Michael Gordon directing.

Money was no object when Bob Hope in London listened over the telephone for an hour and a half to Hank Mancini's music for "Bachelor in Paradise." Ted Richmond in Hollywood telephoned Bob to say that he was about to listen to the numbers, and Bob said he wanted to listen. So, Ted had them played, while Bob made some changes he wanted, hummed the tunes, and said he was going to sing some of the music on a show he's doing in London.

He asked Ted to try to coax Lana Turner to sing the Mancini number in December, when Bob does his first spectacular.

"It was 1:30 in the morning," said Ted, "but Bob forgot we were telephoning." Glad I didn't have to pay the bill."

Frank Sinatra, always generous with the purse strings, is setting aside $1,000,000 on a pre-release promotion campaign for "Sergeants 3." I must say he's hit on something new. Frank is sending out Ted Allen, outstanding photographer, not only to exhibit the fine "stills" he shot on the picture, but to talk to camera bugs everywhere about the art of photography. Allen will also show his portfolio of the greats of the movie industry that he has photographed including Jean Harlow, Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable, John Barrymore, Robert Taylor, Norma Shearer and others. I'd say he's a boy who can not only "talk" Hollywood but illustrate it.

Thirty-one year old Bob Marucci, manager of Fabian and Frankie Avalon, has put a five-carat diamond engagement ring on the hand of twenty-one year old Judy Short.

It all happened when Bob was in the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia for a checkup six weeks ago, and one of his callers, Frankie Avalon, introduced him to a pretty little nurse named Judy.

Both Frankie and Fabian are elated, because they've been trying to marry Bob off for a long time. They thought he was getting too old to remain in the bachelor ranks.

The little blonde sister of Jean Wallace (Mrs. Cornel Wilde) that I used to see with Jean's two children, has just welcomed a baby boy in Mexico City. Both Carol and her husband, Thomas Crawford, are students of the University of Mexico.

Cornel tells me that Jean and her brother went to Mexico to be with Carol for the birth of her baby, and as for him—"I'm very happy about being an uncle. And they have named the baby for me. He'll be called Cornel."

That seems very fitting, since Carol was made Cornel's ward, and he has always been as good to her as to his own daughter.

If you feel you too can write lyrics for popular songs, you have a chance to prove it in the Capitol records contest. A new album, "Songs Without Words," contains ten melodies written by twelve of the nation's foremost composers, and amateur song writers are invited to write and submit lyrics.

The composers of the best lyrics for each song will receive a song-writing contract with a major publishing firm, and a $500 cash advance against royalties. Also, three of the songs will be recorded by Capitol artists.

The composers who recorded the new tunes are Johnny Mercer, Jimmy Van Heusen, Jimmy McHugh, Gene De Paul, Harry Warren, Cindy Walker, Audrey and Joe Allison, Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, Barry De Vorzon and Winfield Scott.

Those two fine veterans of the hosiery, Randolph Scott and Joel McCrea, will shoot it out on the MGM lot co-starring in "Guns in the Afternoon." According to headman Sol Siegel, several of MGM's younger players will back up the "pros" in this adventure of suspense and skullduggery in the high Sierras in the 1870's. Like in TV, the good old westerns are always with us.

Set to start in October, the picture has been turned over to Sam Pickinipah to direct and to Richard Lyons to produce. Both are newcomers to MGM.

There is an interesting story about the signing of Judy Dan, former Miss Hong Kong, for the role of the Japanese girl who comforts Rock Hudson when he is delirious in "Spiral Road."

Dozens of tests were made, and finally Judy was chosen. She looked familiar to some of the old timers, and they finally remembered that five years ago Judy had been on the Universal-International lot under contract. After six months she left to go to Pepperdine College to learn English. In the interim she has also made pictures in China, where her family, prominent motion picture people, live.

Even though his deal to secure the rights to film The Caryl Chessman Story have not materialized, Marlon Brando is still interested in fighting capital punishment in some sort of a screen story. I'm confused about Marlon's thinking about Chessman. A friend tells me that while Brando wanted to do The Chessman Story he had no doubt that the red light bandit was guilty of his crimes. "He's just hepped on the subject that capital punishment is in itself a crime," his friend said. Anyway, at the present time

Proposed Use Of Old Pipe Is Discussed

Street Commissioner John J. Long said he thinks salvaging of pipe from the water relocation project on Long Hill is a "wonderful" idea but some one would have to tell him where the money is to be found to use it on local projects as had been suggested by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

Long spoke out as the pipe salvage matter, held over last week, was broached at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

He said he had noted Mrs. Roeder had suggested using the salvaged pipe on the Brinker's Run drainage problem and possibly a condition at Shade's Lane and Harding Avenue.

Mrs. Roeder said she was not recommending the pipe be used for the two projects but is suggesting the city look into the salvage possibility, using the two projects as an example for its use.

Last week, the Allegany County Roads Department asked salvage rights to the pipe. It was delayed for further study. At that time, Long asked why the pipe could be used by the county and not by the city. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum pointed out that the seal would be broken when pipe is removed from the ground and it would not be suitable for water pipe.

Mrs. Roeder in her midweek statement said she had been informed by sources that salvaged pipe could be used for storm water drainage as long as it was not subjected to high pressures.

Yesterday, Mrs. Roeder said the first issue is whether to salvage the pipe.

Long then suggested that perhaps some one interested in salvage would do so for the salvage right, take what pipe he wanted and give the remainder to the city. Perhaps a $50,000 deal could be worked out, he said, and added pipe the city retains could be stored at the sewage treatment plant.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light thought Long's idea a good one and Mrs. Roeder's motion that Light be authorized to ask for pipe salvage bids was approved.

Involved is 2,200 lineal feet of 36-inch pipe weighing about 2 1/2 tons. Nuzum told council some of it would be damaged beyond use by the recovery. Some of the pipe is under the concrete shoulder of the road while other sections have just a light covering, he said.

Marlon is working on a treatment for an independent production under his own banner which will depict the process of law which sent Chessman to the gas chamber.

One of the standout speeches at the anti-Communist school held in Los Angeles, was made by Pat Boone, who was not only eloquent, but made great sense in pointing out the dangers of the Russian menace.

Pat got so steamed up after his talk that he decided to write a book on communism, directing his attack so that it will be impressive to youngsters of high school age. He has made a deal with Prentiss Hall publishers to bring out his tome—and incidentally, this will be Pat's fourth book. He has written one coming out some time around Christmas.

The resemblance that Bob Coburn bears to James Garner is responsible for the buildup he is getting. He played a role in "Claudelle Inglish," and how "Black Gold," a re-make of a movie Monte Blue once made, is being readied for him.

He is no longer, however, in "Maverick," which starred Garner for so long before he and the studio came to a parting of the ways.

Traffic Rules At Islands Are Explained

Right-of-way regulations at the new traffic islands installed at the Louisiana Avenue-Williams Street-Hill Top Drive intersection were explained yesterday by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Cars going up Louisiana Avenue toward the intersection have the right-of-way in making turns into Williams Street. Cars traveling on Louisiana toward town and vehicles making a right turn off Louisiana into Williams must yield the right-of-way, he said.

A patrolman is being kept on duty there to educate drivers to the regulations. It might be necessary to replace the yield signs with stop signs for an educational period, Fleming said. After a time, the yield signs would be returned.

Fleming also announced that the parking lot at the Girl Scout House, 72 Greene Street, would be opened today. Five-hour meters have been installed and signs for doctor's cars are in place.

Entrance to the lot will be off Johnson Street and cars will leave the lot by way of Greene Street. This will prevent a tieup of traffic on Greene if cars were allowed to enter the lot by that direction, Fleming said.

Parking meter receipts the week of September 3 amounted to $763.25 compared to $777.35 the week of August 27, a decrease of $14.10. Inspector Harry Whisner reported to the Mayor and Council.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married for 15 years to a man who has no bad habits and is a good father. The problem is I can't get a dollar out of him.

We own a four-family flat. Six years ago when our janitor and maintenance man quit I took over "temporarily." Well, I'm still at it with no relief in sight. I'm a plumber's daughter so I know how to fix everything in that line. I can fix the air-conditioners, and do a little carpenter work. I've papered and painted, varnished and laid linoleum when tenants have moved out so the flats would be rentable.

We have a vegetable garden in back and every year I put up 200 quarts of beets, tomatoes, carrots, dill pickles and asparagus. I do all this in addition to taking care of my own family which numbers six. When I ask my husband for a few dollars to get a permanent wave or a new pair of shoes he says "Wait till I die. You'll get everything." What can I do?

— GETTING TIRED

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Take on one more job — collect the rent. At the rate you're going, Lady, YOU'LL die — and HE'LL get everything.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a woman 30 years of age and I have no major problems. I'd be very grateful if you'd print this letter as a means of educating some of the bores in this world. I happen to have a few rather large warts on my face. My doctor has told me that they are not dangerous from a health standpoint, so I just forget they are there — until some ignoramus makes a vulgar remark. Will you please tell people that it is in the worst possible taste to make comments of this type? Thank you.

— G. R.

DEAR G. R.: It's your face — and you can grow anything on it you like, but why in the world would an intelligent woman choose to go through life with warts on her face when a dermatologist can remove them in his office during her lunch hour?

Of course it's terribly rude to comment on the warts, but you

County Board Opposes Hike In Beer Tax

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners is having a resolution drawn up for submission to the budget and finance committee of the State Legislative Council in which it formally goes on record as being opposed to a proposed increase in the state tax on beer and wine.

Commissioner John T. Mason, who is a member of the legislative committee of the State Association of County Commissioners, brought up the matter at yesterday's session of the county board.

A telegram was sent to the Legislative Council in Baltimore, where it will meet today, stating that the resolution is being drawn up and will be sent later.

Commissioners Mason, John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon were unanimous in their opposition to the proposed tax hike on beer and wine.

All three commissioners cited the adverse effect on employment at Cumberland's two breweries, the Queen City Brewing Company and Cumberland Brewing Company, if such a measure were adopted by the next Legislature.

The increase will be from three cents which is currently charged to eight cents per gallon. The wine tax raise would be from 20 to 35 cents per gallon.

A Contribution To Peace?

On August 28, 1959, the government of the USSR issued this solemn pledge:
"The Council of Ministers of the Soviet Union has decided not to resume nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union if the Western powers do not resume the testing of atomic and hydrogen weapons.
"Only in the event of a resumption by them of the testing of nuclear weapons will the Soviet Union be freed from this self-imposed undertaking."
Two years and two days after this pledge was made, the Western powers had not resumed testing, but Russia announced that she would start testing weapons up to 100 megatons in size. Her 1959 pledge was atomized. This, said Russia, was a contribution to peace.

Now Pravda says nobody has to worry. The Soviet Union, Pravda notes, has solemnly pledged that it will not be the first to use nuclear weapons in war.
So she has. And this is one pledge she may not violate—if the United States and other free world nations continue to maintain so formidable a retaliatory posture that it would be suicidal for the USSR to break it, even as a contribution to peace.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
What Does K Prove?

The question must arise in the minds of Russians as well as Americans and others: what does Khrushchev think that he is proving? He blows off bombs; we can blow off bombs. What has been accomplished? What difference does it really make?
The guess is probably that Khrushchev needs another meeting with President Kennedy. He needs it not to solve any world problems, but to establish that Kennedy will come to him to plead with him not to explode more bombs. He needs that to strengthen his own position in the Communist world, particularly vis-a-vis Red China which desires war — a war against the United States to be fought not by Red China but by Soviet Russia.

Why should President Kennedy meet with Khrushchev? He met with him at Vienna and it was utterly unsatisfactory. Since the Vienna meeting, Khrushchev has gone out of his way to weaken Kennedy's position in the world and even in the United States. What advantage could there possibly be for Kennedy or for the United States if Kennedy accepted the advice of the so-called neutral nations and he met with Khrushchev?

There would not be a single advantage. Kennedy would come out of such a meeting much weaker than when he went into it. The United States would be in a weaker position than it is today. Why do we give in? Why are we the ones to make the concessions? How many more concessions can we afford to make?
President Kennedy has organized his foreign relations staff so that there must be a conflict of view. Already it is evident that Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Under Secretary, Chester Bowles, do not always agree. Such disagreements should not exist. The responsibility for the formulation of the foreign policy rests with the President of the United States; the responsibility for the conduct of the foreign policy rests with the Secretary of State. When there are half a dozen or so personalities, of considerable public appeal, functioning as advisers to the President, some of them travelling about the world, discussing serious problems with various heads of state, there is the probability of confusion. How can a President protect himself from his associates when he extends to them authority for which only he is responsible?

It is obviously not necessary for Khrushchev to fire bomb after bomb to raise his stock. This is being done to frighten the United States, Great Britain and France. What is there to fear? If Khrushchev wants to make war, then we shall have to fight it out and large numbers of us and of them will be killed. If he thinks that by frightening us, we shall concede whatever he wants us to concede, then all we need to do is to make no concessions. If he believes that the so-called neutrals will become his satellites because he fires more bombs than we do, then when the time comes, the neutrals may discover that we can blow one of them up to prove that anyone can blow anyone up.

Khrushchev's error is that he assumes that we are a demoralized, degenerate people, who are so wedded to luxurious living that we would rather be Red than dead. But suppose it is just the opposite? Suppose it is established that we would really prefer to be dead than Red? Americans are now having such stickers printed which they glue onto the bumpers of their automobiles.

The Kaiser, Hitler, the Japanese and others have made that mistake about Americans. We are not readily frightened. And whereas just before a war, we seem to be a nation of pacifists, fearing shot and shell, the day the fight starts, the entire nation becomes mobilized and submits to whatever hardships are necessary. If Khrushchev wants to test that, all he needs to do is to try it.
From an historic point of view, it would be sound for the Russians to pursue a course directly opposite to what they are doing. Their immediate necessity is peace. It is true that the Chinese Communists are driving them to war, but that is to the advantage of the Chinese not the Russians. Therefore Khrushchev would be smart if he depended upon the United States, Great Britain, France and West Germany to help him consolidate his own country. He will not succeed in doing this by scaring anybody.

Administration Wars On Conservative Economics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — The Kennedy Administration has crossed the Rubicon. It has decided to make war on conservative economics and embark on a course of radical economics. It is ignoring the risk that it may plunge the country into more unemployment within the next 18 months and bring about perhaps the worst recession since the 1930's.

For President Kennedy has determined to put certain limits on business profits and the return on investments that stockholders have hitherto expected when putting their savings into private enterprise. The net result could be the gradual collapse of the private-enterprise system in America and the beginning of that era of socialism which Nikita Khrushchev has predicted will inevitably lead to Communism in another generation in the United States.

President Kennedy's crucial step came a few days ago when he openly threatened the steel industry with reprisals by government unless it agreed to forego any price increases at this time. Mr. Kennedy vaguely promised that next year, when the unions ask for still higher wages, he would urge "moderation." He didn't define the term. But the entire business world noted that Mr. Kennedy significantly refused to ask the unions at this time to forego the additional wage increases scheduled for them at the end of this month under a contract signed early in 1960 after a long strike.

The steel industry thus far has absorbed a 10 per cent rise in labor costs since 1958 without a price increase. Fair play would seem to require that, since the steel industry has already absorbed this large increase in wages without a price rise, the least that Mr. Kennedy might have done was to ask labor to cancel its increase scheduled for October 1 this year.

But the Kennedy Administration has sitting in the cabinet, as secretary of labor, the man who was general counsel of the biggest steel union in the country. Had there been a secretary of commerce in a Republican administration who had previously been a leader in the steel industry—either as president of a large company or as its principal negotiator just a few months earlier during a major strike—the howl that would have gone up about "conflict of interest" would have been heard from coast to coast. Industry has no voice in the Kennedy cabinet. The secretary of commerce is afraid of his shadow and allowed himself to be influenced by the radicals in the administration when he ordered the virtual suppression of the Business Advisory Council which had existed for decades as a means of communication between business and the executive branch of the government.

President Kennedy's procedure in writing a letter to 12 steel companies and in immediately making it public is the subject of sharp criticism. He did not invite these steel executives to come to Washington beforehand to give their side of the issue. He took them by surprise as he issued his letter and threatened restrictive measures if they didn't obey. This is one of the most surprising moves any President has made in recent years, and it is small wonder that it is being regarded as the beginning of a series of hostile acts to throttle American enterprise and to pave the way for nationalization or socialization of the larger industries in America.

Mr. Kennedy himself has never been regarded as a radical, but he has surrounded himself with advisers who sincerely believe in government ownership. In giving their advice, they can hardly refrain from advocating a philosophy which could eventually mean the end of private capitalism in America. Every one of these

FRONTIER JOKES — When John F. Kennedy coined the phrase the "New Frontier" to depict the aims of his administration, it was inevitable that it would be the butt of political jokes. Here are two:

Question—"Where can we find the New Frontier?" Answer—"Out where the waste begins."
An Oklahoma Indian was asked to give his impression of a New Frontiersman. He replied: "Big hat—no cattle."

Needless to say, these jokes and others of their kind are being circulated in Washington by members of the opposition political party.

IVY LEAGUE — When the Senate roll was called on a measure backed by Kennedy, of Harvard, a trio of Yale men found themselves lined up against it. They were Sens. William Proxmire, Wisconsin; Prescott Bush, Connecticut, and Thurston B. Morton, Kentucky.

These three found that the senator who was leading the fight for them was Allen J. Ellender, Louisiana. The three held a quick alumni meeting on the Senate floor and decided that Ellender should receive some honor from Yale for upholding that school's Senate contingent against the desires of the Harvards.

Sen. Morton finally came up with the solution. They would propose that Yale award Harvard an honorary doctorate. The trio consulted with Ellender and he said he wanted to be made an S.D.—"Doctor of Shrimptology."

Coronary Arteries—Lifelines To The Heart

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A 54 year old Chicagoan was having trouble with his heart. He said that two months previously he began to develop a squeezing pain across the chest after walking two or three blocks.

"The doctor says it's angina pectoris and gave me tablets to place under my tongue when pain comes on. They really work but I still get distress when I walk too far. Is there no cure for this condition?"

Angina pectoris is a symptom of a disease that must be understood to be appreciated. It centers about the coronary arteries that supply the heart muscle with nourishment. The heart, like other organs, has its own set of vessels that bring it blood.

This is an excellent arrangement, so long as the arteries remain open. But these lifelines are susceptible to arteriosclerosis and, over the years, tend to become rusty—like old pipes. This is a gradual process as a rule. In time, the arteries become too narrow to supply the demands of the heart during activity or excitement. The old ticker rebels by producing a squeezing or burning chest pain (angina pectoris). It needs blood to do that extra job but can't get it.

The tablet referred to above is nitroglycerine. Relief occurs promptly because this medicine dilates the coronary arteries, which allows more blood to reach the heart muscle. Anyone whose discomfort can be alleviated so easily is fortunate.

Meanwhile, nature must take its course. New blood vessels may develop in time to help supply the demands of the heart. There also is a possibility that eventually the ailing artery will be obstructed completely, resulting in a heart attack (coronary thrombosis). When this occurs the blocked segment may be bridged by a new blood vessel; ... s, anginal pains will vanish after the recovery from the heart attack.

Columnist Reveals What He Told Khrushchev During Visit To Russia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — I have already reported rather fully on what Premier Khrushchev told me while at his Black Sea vacation spot. But I have not reported what I told him. What a newspaperman tells the top leader of the Communist world is not particularly important, but in this case it may throw some light on Soviet-American relations.

Khrushchev, during a running cross-fire of conversation, at times interviewed me. He was asking me about all sorts of American leaders.

"Does Averell Harriman still control the Union Pacific Railroad?" was one question.

"He and his family are the biggest stockholders, but he isn't active in the railroad any more," I replied.

"What's become of Henry Wallace?" he asked.

"He's up in New York State trying to grow a strawberry that will be as sweet as the French strawberry and as big as the American," I replied.

"Interesting," observed Khrushchev.

"He's also trying to breed a chicken which will be a heavy layer yet will not be subject to the diseases which heavy-laying hens contract," I added.

"Our Communist chickens have that problem too," said Mr. K. "Mr. Wallace was a good man."

"Did you ever know of his position on the atom bomb?" I asked. "At the last meeting of the Truman Cabinet attended by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson in October 1945, Stimson proposed that the secret of the atom bomb be given to Russia.

"This was about six weeks after the atom bomb was first exploded over Hiroshima," I recalled. "Stimson was a Republican who had served as Secretary of War under Taft, Secretary of State under Hoover, and Secretary of War a second time under Roosevelt.

"He argued before the Truman Cabinet that Russia would get the atom bomb anyway, and we might as well win Soviet good will by offering them the secret then. It was the way to build permanent peace."

"He was right," observed Khrushchev.

"There were three votes in the Cabinet for giving Russia the secret of the A-bomb," I continued. "Stimson's, Henry Wallace's, and Dean Acheson's. Acheson was then acting Secretary of State."

Influence Of McCarthy

This interested Khrushchev. Earlier he had told me President Kennedy was taking advice from Acheson on Berlin and that Acheson was a diehard Soviet-hater.

I explained that Acheson had started out his career in the State Department anxious for cooperating with the Soviet but had shifted partly because of Stalin's tough tactics, partly because of Senator McCarthy's attacks.

"McCarthy charged that there were 205 card-carrying Communists in the State Department known to Acheson," I recalled.

Khrushchev thought this was rather humorous.

"Actually, subsequent investigation showed there weren't any," I said. "But the more McCarthy accused Acheson of being soft on Communism, the more Acheson hardened in his relations with the Soviet. And this may be the big mistake you are making with Kennedy today."

I then recalled how Kennedy in the early stage of his campaign for President had said that if he had been Eisenhower, he would have expressed his "regret" to Khrushchev over the U-2 incident in Paris.

"But he got clobbered so hard by Nixon and Lyndon Johnson for saying this that he pulled in his horns," I explained. "However, Kennedy sincerely wants peace. He was terribly crippled by the war. He has a domestic program which his enemies are calling Socialistic, even Communistic."

"And you have to remember that he was elected by a very narrow margin and he's worried about his opposition. He's got some very right-wing senators to contend with."

"The China Lobby," interposed Khrushchev.

Resurgence Of McCarthyism

I went on to explain that an organization called the John Birch Society had sprung up whose founders even considered Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles Communists. Khrushchev indicated he knew all about this. I pointed out that while it was not large in numbers and while the leading newspapers of the United States had attacked it, nevertheless it was a sign of the times, and that McCarthyism seemed to be coming back in America.

"The more you push Kennedy," I argued, "the more it strengthens the hand of the McCarthyites and the right-wingers. If you want peace, you've got to help clear the atmosphere and get back to the Camp David spirit."

I told Khrushchev how I had traveled through Italy, Greece, Turkey and India just ahead of Eisenhower on his trip to those countries right after Camp David and knew that anti-American and Communist groups in those countries had been called off as a result of the Camp David spirit established by him and Eisenhower.

Khrushchev's reply was to settle Berlin and after that get back to the Camp David spirit. "Then we'll have Kennedy over here and give him the greatest reception in history," he said. "But we've got to settle Berlin first."

"Which comes first," I asked, "the chicken or the egg? If you get the Camp David spirit back, if you can establish a feeling of trust, then you can settle Berlin." (Editor's Note: Tomorrow Pearson will report his answer.)

Peace And Poverty

By John Crosby

BELGRADE
The issues here, stripped of verbiage, ideology, and politics, are, simply peace, the over-ridden issue, and poverty. Sometimes the jokes belting around the conference of non-aligned nations tell the story better than the oratory. There's a Russian joke I like. One Russian asks another: "What would you do in case of nuclear war?" The other one says: "I'd join a crowd and walk slowly to the cemetery." "Why slowly?" "I don't want to start a panic."

Nobody wants to start a panic but the question is how tough can you be without starting the conflagration nobody, including the Russians, wants. The Russian saber-rattling, blowing off atom bombs in the atmosphere, and all that, sounds suspiciously as if they were trying to panic the non-aligned nations here into alignment with them. It sounds too as if the Russians were totally contemptuous of world opinion. But the Russians are never contemptuous of world opinion. The idea, I think, is to stampede world opinion towards a negotiation for total disarmament on their terms.

Just as the Russians took over the word peace as their very own, they have now latched onto the phrase total disarmament, and the United States and the West have been chivied into the position in the eyes of much of the world of being against total disarmament. President Tito's speech upset the American Embassy for reasons I can't quite understand. Tito revealed that he is a Communist, which should hardly surprise anyone. Perhaps the time has come, Tito said, to consider the possibility of convening a general world disarmament conference.

This is what the Russians want and Russian correspondents here, headed by Victor Mayevsky, one of the foreign editors of "Pravda," have been going around the conference saying openly and repeatedly to anyone who will listen that the saber-rattling and bombs in space and panic button tactics were going to be followed by a massive Russian push towards a general disarmament conference.

The West's position is that general disarmament is a separate problem from a nuclear test ban, against which the Russians seem adamant, but this seems to put us in the position of opposing general disarmament. This is a very difficult thing to explain to the peoples of the uncommitted nations, whose passion for peace was most dramatically expressed by little Madame Bandaranaike, Prime Minister of Ceylon. In her purple and gold sari she electrified the delegates of the twenty-four nations by crying: "There's not a single mother who can face the possibility of their children being exposed to atomic radiation."

This was a flagrant appeal to the mother love of the world and it got a storm of applause, the only applause to interrupt a speech so far, proving that motherhood is as sacred, as unassailable, and as sure-fire in the under-developed countries as it is in Topeka.

The conference took place in the Yugoslav parliament building and, as one wag has said, it is the first free discussion to be held in that edifice in sixty years. Seated around the huge oval table were a colorful mixture. Nehru, the bored star of the show, almost more British than Indian. Sukarno, in dark glasses which make him look like a villain in a Warner Brothers movie, wearing a succession of uniforms covered with decorations, though he's one of the few who never served in anybody's army. Nasser, a soldier in civilian clothes, a huge man of tremendous animal vitality. Archbishop Makarios, a great black beard contained in what looks like widow's weeds. Sheikh Ibrahim Sowel of Saudi Arabia in his black robes and white burnous. The king of Nepal in his white loose jacket and tight black jodhpurs, looking like a busboy. The Prince of Yemen in his white turban, who seemed in a perpetual fog.

The Prince of Yemen interjected the only comedy of the show in his one stint as chairman. A slight dispute arose as to whether a committee should be appointed to prepare a communique and the Prince of Yemen, hopelessly confused, kept taking off his earphones when he should have been putting them on and vice versa — giving the floor to delegates who didn't want the floor and hadn't asked for it. "No wonder he's a little weak on parliamentary procedure," murmured an observer. "He hasn't got a parliament."

These colorful and diverse folk rode to the Parliament building each day in a glittering array (by Yugoslav standards) of old Packards, new Cadillacs, and sundry other rolling stock which cost the American taxpayer (who is really footing the bill for this whole conference) a pretty penny. Peace, as Nehru and everyone else has said, is the great issue (if war comes all else goes). But right behind peace comes poverty and here the non-aligned, whether they be Communist or wallowing, like the Prince of Yemen, in the middle ages, have an emotional understanding of one another and of Russia that excludes us. These are po' folk and traditionally the po' folk hate the rich folk, which is what we are.

Tito spoke bitterly of the Common Market and the Atlantic Economic Community in which the rich are getting richer and the poor (by being locked out of these markets) are getting poorer. He recommended that the rich give to the poor technical aid and economic assistance without any political strings attached. But this (otherwise known as non-intervention) is proving unwise, unworkable, and, I think, immoral. If we're going to underwrite the under-developed, we should insist that tyranny be held to reasonable limits and, in any case, not extended to us.

All Box Seats Purchased For Yankee Series

BALTIMORE (AP)—Barring postponements, the New York Yankees will play team decisions Nos. 152, 153 and 154 during a four-game series here Sept. 19-21. If Roger Maris or Mickey Mantle are to match or break Babe Ruth's home run record, they must do it within the 154-game limit set by baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

Baltimore fans already have purchased all box seats for the three dates, and Orioles officials expect the series to draw at least 120,000.

Asked what would happen if all the Yankee games were rained out, Orioles president Lee MacPhail said:

"If it rains, you can find me either on top of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge or under it, depending on how soon you get there."

Reds Recall Marshall Bridges

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The league leading Cincinnati Reds, in a move to bolster their left-handed relief pitching, Monday recalled Marshall Bridges from their Jersey City farm club in the International League.

Bridges appeared in 13 base-ball games for the Reds this year and had one loss without a victory with the National League team before being sent to Jersey City on June 25. He won four and lost none with the Reds last season.

Reichow Is Traded To Minnesota Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings announced Monday they have acquired end-quarterback Jerry Reichow from the Washington Redskins for an undisclosed 1961 draft choice.

The trade came as no surprise, since Reichow had been traded over the weekend from the Philadelphia Eagles to the Redskins. Washington said they intended to use the former University of Iowa star in a trade with the Vikings.

Long runs by Charles Redinger set up both scores credited to Henry.

Fort Hill reeled off eleven first downs to only one for Keyser.

Waivers Sought For Guglielmi

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Redskins asked waivers on quarterback Ralph Guglielmi Monday but hastily explained it was just a maneuver to keep him off the official roster until he recovers from injuries.

Waivers on an injured player is a technicality frequently used by the National Football League teams who wish to keep a sidelined star on the roster without affecting the 36-man player limit.

In Guglielmi's case, a Redskins official said, the waivers will be withdrawn if any team claims him. If no team does, Guglielmi will be eligible to play again in four weeks and in the meantime Washington can keep a squad of 36 active players.

Phil Hill Says He'll Continue Racing Career

American Shaken By Von Trips Death

MONZA, Italy (AP)—Phil Hill, who became 1961 world champion auto racer in Sunday's death-shrouded Grand Prix of Italy, said Monday he'll keep on racing — for the time being.

"Not this year," he replied when asked if he would give up the high-speed competition. Hill said his mind wasn't made up yet about next year.

The Santa Monica, Calif., ace was at the hotel where Wolfgang von Trips had been staying before he died on Monza's track. The German baron's Ferrari plowed into a mass of spectators and 14 of them died with him. Another 23 were injured.

In the wake of the tragedy, the Italian government Monday banned any more events at the famed Monza auto track until a newly appointed commission makes sure that every precaution is taken for the safety of drivers and spectators.

Hill, Ferrari racing director Romolo Tavoni and Von Trips' personal driver got permission to take from Von Trips' sealed room a blue suit and white shirt so the dead racing driver can be prepared for his funeral Tuesday.

"I lost more than a teammate," said Hill. "I lost a brother."

Somewhat recovered from the shock of Sunday's tragedy, Hill talked again of the accident.

"Driving requires caution, but yesterday we needed a lot of it," he said. "Apparently that curve (where Von Trips' fatal accident happened) did not seem to be dangerous. On the contrary, that curve is a treacherous one."

British ace Stirling Moss, who withdrew from the Italian Grand Prix with engine trouble, left quietly for home Monday morning. Hotel sources said he was a dejected figure when he got back to his room Sunday.

Baroness von Trips, mother of the bachelor racer, phoned the hotel Sunday night from Horrem, Koeln, nursing a hope that her son was somehow still alive. A hotel clerk gave her the confirmation she had been dreading. Tuesday the body will be flown to her at Cologne.

Michigan State's stadium at East Lansing was opened with 14,000 seats in 1923 and it was enlarged four times and has a present capacity of 76,000.

The National Football League says its ball is "lighter, smoother, easier to handle and more conducive to scoring than it was 25 years ago."

Alou's Homer Beats Pirates

Face Loser On 10th Inning Blast, 4-3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Felipe Alou hit a home run in the 10th inning Monday, giving the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Right-hander Jack Sanford (11-8) went all the way for the Giants and retired the final 15 Pittsburgh batters in order.

The loser was little Elroy Face (6-9) who entered the game after Alvin McBean, the Pirate starter, left for a pinch-hitter in the top of the 10th. Alou was the only batter Face faced.

Dick Stuart's 27th home run of the year tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth but the Pirates didn't get another man on base.

The Giants now have won four straight games and lead the Pirates 11-8 for the year.

West End Amadis Pays $31.80 In Opening Day Feature Race At Fairgo

Amadis, 12-1 Shot, Takes Third Race

Double Pays $84; Two Favorites Win, Espinosa Cops Two

Racing came back to Fairgo yesterday after an absence of two years and good prizes highlighted the eight-card program which was witnessed by 4,358 patrons who wagered $120,991, a new low for opening day since the 12-day meetings were launched here in 1956.

Best payoff of the afternoon was flashed on the tote board after the running of The Inaugural, 7th race on the card, in which Fred G. Norris' West End Miss, with Maurice Espinosa, Panamanian, aboard, scored a head victory over Giant Patch in the 6 1/2 furlongs test and rewarded backers with $31.80 each each $2 invested.

Espinosa One-Two
The Espinosa Brothers finished one-two in the feature race, Victor, having been astride the place horse. Show Money went to Mrs. Barrish.

Mrs. Charles L. Larkin's Mid-race was injured at the starting gate, causing a slight delay in the start of the race, and was scratched.

The second best mutual payoff of the day was recorded in the third event on the card when W. B. Patterson's Amadis, piloted by Edward J. Decker, came home 1 1/2 lengths ahead of Pricewise, Jr., and returned $26.

Nancy's Love paid $18.60 in the eighth, Tiller Ep $15.60 in the second and Manipulator in the opener, $11.20.

In the final, Isaac White's Nancy's Love, Thomas DePallo up, defeated Donnie Boy, coupled with Good Colony as the Miller-Deatrich entry, by 1 1/2 lengths, while Cottage Hill Farm's Lem-ony finished third.

Double Returns $84
Jimmy Kirk was aboard Tiller Ep, winner of the second, which coupled with Manipulator, victor in the opener, to pay $84 in the Daily Double for the 1-4 combination. The double pool amounted to $14,810.

Louis E. "Mandy" Torreyson, veteran trainer, had the distinction of saddling the first winner if the meeting when Victor Espinosa scored with B. J. Demong's Manipulator. Second money went to Tide Table with Heat Flame third in the five furlongs dash.

Horse Is Disqualified
The first disqualification of the day occurred in the fifth race when an objection was lodged by Jockey Lawrence Reynolds, who finished fourth aboard Main Line Joe, the favorite, against Victor Espinosa, who came in second with Roman Carnage. The stewards upheld Reynolds' claim of interference and Roman Carnage was dropped from second to fourth place. Bonnie Belle, 2nd, ridden by Charley McKee, was the $8 for $2 winner, with Dew Line in the runner-up spot and Main Line Joe, third.

Margheim Stable's Covat, 3-year-old bay son of Bolero, was the first of two favorites to score during the afternoon, and paid $4.40 in the fourth, finishing 1 1/2 lengths in the fore of This My Boy with Bobby Surrender grabbing show money in the $1,000 event.

Second Favorite Wins
The other favorite that grabbed the major portion of the purse was Mrs. Phillip S. Goodwin's chestnut mare, Florence H, which won the sixth by the margin of five lengths over R. M. Bee. The Goodwin sprinter with William J. Passmore in the pilot house returned a $5 mutual.

Victor Espinosa paced the riders on the first day of the 12-day meeting with two winners—Manipulator and Covat. He also had three seconds.

Eight different trainers saddled one winner each. Angelo Bertrando, who sent Florence H postward in the sixth, also conditioned three horses that topped show money.

Emerson May Play In Davis Cup Series
MELBOURNE (AP)—Australian Davis Cup captain Harry Hopman said Monday that the new American singles champion, Roy Emerson, would be the logical choice to play the Davis Cup singles this year if Neale Fraser proves unfit.

Fraser is recovering after a knee operation. Hopman said Emerson will need more than his American victory to displace Laver or Fraser if both players are fit.

Moore To Fight In Paris Dec. 4
PARIS (UPI)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore has agreed to fight at the Palais des Sports, Paris, on Dec. 4, promoter Charles Michaelis announced Monday night.

His opponent will be the winner of a bout between Gracieux Lamperti of France, European champion, and Rafiq King of Nigeria, British Empire champion.

MAKES DEBUT AS SECRETARY—J. Melvin Mackin, Jr., of Havre de Grace, is the racing secretary at Fairgo for the current 12-day meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association and it was through his untiring efforts that the local races are being held after a lapse of two years. Mackin has done missionary work in Ohio, Maryland and West Virginia to get many stables to send their horses here and the fact that 450 thoroughbreds are here is proof that Mackin, who serves as secretary at all the minor tracks in the state, is a popular fellow with the horsemen. There were many who doubted there would be a meet here this year but Mackin was certain "It Could Be Done In '61" when he took over command.

Edgar Reynolds Memorial Race Heads Today's Card

The fifth running of the Edgar "Buck" Reynolds Memorial is scheduled today and will be the 7th race on the program. The race is named in memory of the former general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association. Mr. Reynolds and his wife, Helen, were killed on the grade crossing near Fairgo in June, 1954, when their automobile was struck by a train. Jockey Joe Snyder, who won the Reynolds with Annette G., in 1956 was the leading winning rider here that year and was killed in a spill at the Charles Town track. Mike Sorrentino, who won the 1955 race with Hasteville, Jr., now rides regularly on New York tracks. The owner of the winning horse in today's feature will receive a $25 Savings Bond. Deane Beman Survives First Round National Amateur

Champ Takes 1-Up Victory Over Allers

Pebble Beach Golf Course Site Of Many Close Matches

By HAL WOOD

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Defending champion Deane Beman got the scare of his young life Monday, but survived the first round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament with a last-ditch, 1-up victory over Harry Allers, a comeback kid from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

It was a day of narrow squeaks for some well-known names—and a day in which other big stars were sent to the sidelines, their hopes of a championship shattered for another year on rugged, but calm, Pebble Beach.

Campbell Loses
Among those to taste defeat was Billy Campbell, the former Walker Cup ace from Huntington, W. Va., who three-putted the 18th green to lose to Andy Gard, Wayland, Mass., 1-up.

But it was Beman, 23, who really ran into trouble before pulling out his victory. Four up after nine holes, the champ's game suddenly fell apart. He was lucky to get a halve on the par-four 11th with a five, when Allers, a 21-year-old, missed a two-foot putt.

Then Allers won the 12th, 13th and 14th with two pars and a birdie to pull close. But they halved the last four holes and the champ was still in the game.

Other feature matches included: Dr. Bud Taylor, a Walker Cup member from Pomona, Calif., won 2 and 1 over Marshall Trammel, Nashville, Tenn.

Pulls Minor Upset
Ex-Walker Cupper Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., routed Charles Henton, Spokane, Wash., 7 and 5.

Ronnie Shade, the blond bomber from Edinburgh, Scotland, pulled a minor upset when he turned back Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., 3 and 2.

Chick Evans, the 71-year-old former champion, found the course a lot too long and succumbed to James McCarthy, Joliet, Ill., 5 and 4.

Oregon champion Dick Price of Longview, Wash., ran into a buzzsaw of five birdies in the first six holes and lost to long-shot Paul Spengler, Fairfax, Calif., 4 and 3.

John Farquhar, Amarillo, Tex., a semi-finalist last year, was eliminated by 18-year-old Dick Lotz, Newark, Calif., 3 and 1.

Kiss The Wind Cops 2nd Place At State Fair

Kiss The Wind, six month old filly foal named after a game played by Caroline Kennedy, took second place honors at the 80th annual Maryland State Fair Horse Breeder's Show, at Timonium. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Nierman of Cumberland, Kiss The Wind took second place in the 1961 foals for colts and fillies registered half-Arabian.

Governor J. Millard Tawes, presented the Niermans with a trophy, ribbon and cash award which goes with the placing. The Horse Breeders' Show is sponsored by the Arabian Horse Association of the East and the Maryland State Fair jointly.

Kiss The Wind is sired by Crystal Voyager, a recent import from England and is out Mrs. Nierman's mare Helen Dear.

Exhibitors from New Jersey, Virginia, Penna., West Virginia, Delaware and Maryland participated in the show.

Field Grade Cancels Mark

Silvester's Discus Throw Not Allowed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jay Silvester's latest bid for a world discus record went out the window Monday because an examination by the scrupulously honest amateur track and field officials found something wrong with the discus.

Army Lt. Silvester, former Utah State star, unleashed a tremendous throw of 210 feet, 2 1/4 inches Saturday in an all-comers meet at East Los Angeles Junior College. It was only the second time on record anyone ever threw the discus more than 200 feet.

The other time also was cancelled out when officials ruled Rink Babka's 1958 heave bounced in a ditch.

Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) officials examined the field Sunday and found a slope of 27 inches, compared to the 2 1/4 allowed by regulations. While at the most, the variance could have helped Silvester by only about four feet, the irregularity completely cancelled out his brilliant series.

While disappointed, Silvester still could look forward to action on his pending record throw of 199 feet, 2 1/4 inches set in Belgium last month. The recognized world record is 196-6 1/2.

In Saturday's meet, Babka was second with a throw of 196-9 1/2, with Bob Humphreys third at 192.

U.S. Must Play India On Grass In Cup Matches

New Delhi Is Site Of Interzone Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—There was more bad news Monday for Uncle Sam's reeling Davis Cup tennis team — the United States must play India in India on grass.

The first of the two interzone matches will be staged in New Delhi, probably Sept. 29-30, Oct. 1. The winner then goes on to Rome to meet the Italians Oct. 13-15.

The Yanks, their store of material bled by suspensions, school responsibilities and professional raids, would have to be mighty lucky to get through and qualify to face the Australians in Melbourne the last of December.

The United States wanted to play India in Houston, Tex., on clay. India insisted on New Delhi. The dilemma was passed on to Australia, the cup holder, where a coin was flipped and India won.

"This is a tough break for us," said Harcourt Woods, chairman of the U.S. Davis Cup team. "We would have been much better off if we could have played on clay."

The reason for this is that the United States has a sure-shot winner on clay in Bernard (Tut) Barnier, rated the world's best on the slower surface.

The rest of the team is up in the air. Chuck McKinley, the No. 1 player, isn't sure he can get away from his studies at Trinity University in Texas. His doubles mate, Dennis Ralston, is under suspension for the rest of the year. The National Championships at Forest Hills, which ended Sunday, failed to produce any bright new hopefuls.

Added to this is the disquieting fact that Ramanathan Krishnan, the top Indian, is one of the world's best on grass and he is almost unbeatable at home.

However, granting that Krishnan can take his two singles matches, India will be hard-pressed to get the necessary third point for victory. Nares Kumar and young Premjit Lall, the other Indian players, are well below world class.

Among those who donated blood yesterday were 31 first-time donors. There were 192 scheduled to give blood and 148 kept their appointments. There also were 23 walk-ins and 15 persons rejected.

Two men joined the Two-Gallon Club yesterday. They were James R. Stewart, 321 Columbia Avenue, who is president of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, and William L. Ranck, 100 Mullin Street.

There also were five donors who became members of the One-Gallon Club. They included Charles Reeves, RFD 1, Keyser, W. Va.; Chester Moody, RFD 1, Cumberland; Albert Rice, Corriantville; Thomas H. Moore, 130 Seymour Street, and Francis M. Stein, 24 North Chase Street.

Yesterday's visit to the local plant was sponsored jointly by the Celanese Fibers Company management and Local 1874, TWU.

Co-chairmen for the visit were Marian W. Heiskell and Ida E. Kennell.

Officials of the Red Cross said the mobile unit will be at the Trinity Methodist Church in Piedmont, today from noon to 6 p. m.

Other visits by the bloodmobile are scheduled for Monday, October 2, at the Eagles home in Cumberland, and the following day in Frostburg.

Teacher Pay Competition Study Urged

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Carroll County commissioners have urged Gov. Tawes to appoint a commission to investigate "competitive bidding" by Maryland counties for school teachers.

The commissioners asked for the study in a letter reporting to the governor on the county's use of new State aid appropriated by the last legislature.

"Ever since it became evident that there was a scarcity of qualified teachers because of the rapid increase of the school pupil population, beginning in the post war years, we have seen the counties of Maryland bidding against each other in an honest effort to properly staff their schools, and this competition for teacher services has worked hardship both upon the taxpayers and the school systems of many of our less wealthy counties," the commissioners said.

"We feel that the time has arrived for serious effort to be made to bring about uniformity of pay for identical services, so that this competitive bidding in terms of money only can be stopped."

"Let all the subdivisions receiving State aid to education pay teachers the same salary scale, and then the teachers can select their places of employment on the basis of other considerations than the amount of money the highest bidder can pay."

The commissioners told Tawes that most of the $247,408 the county expects to receive under the new aid program would go for teacher salary increases to bring Carroll to the level of surrounding counties.

The legislature made $14.5 million in State aid available to the counties and Baltimore City by adopting the James Committee program at its last session. The program was financed by increases in the State sales and cigarette taxes.

"It seems to us to be unfortunate that so much effort should have been spent by the James Committee and the legislature in working out a complicated tax formula and distribution of State revenues among the municipalities, only to have their labors and the proceeds from the increased taxes result finally and simply in a pay raise for teachers," the Carroll commissioners said.

The commissioners said they knew of no other public employees or officers, with the possible exception of judges, who "are paid varying salaries in the same classification of employment, dependent only upon the geographical location of their places of employment."

The letter to the governor was signed by commissioners Edmund L. Carr, Charles W. Saylor and Francis J. Crawford.

Local College Adds Another Staff Member

Roy S. Weed, King of Prussia, Pa., has been appointed business manager and teacher of economics and accounting at Allegany Community College, Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president, announced yesterday.

Weed comes to Cumberland after serving for three and one-half years as assistant to the business manager for the American Baptist Publication Society, Philadelphia.

A native of Cleveland, he was graduated from high school there and from Western Reserve University where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration.

He then attended Crozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa., where he received a bachelor of divinity degree. At the seminary, he also served as the comptroller.

He also received a master's degree in business administration from Temple University.

Weed taught "Principles of Economics" and was business manager at the Baptist Missionary Training School, Chicago, and also was an instructor at Baptist Institute, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

He and his wife have three children, a son, 13, and two daughters, 15 years and the other 11 months.

Weed is the third instructor to be hired for the new college which is to be opened on September 25.

State Employees Promised Jobs

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—State employees affected by the current military buildup would get their jobs back after they return from active duty under a change in Maryland's merit-system rules announced by Gov. Tawes.

Several Maryland reserve units have been notified they are to report about Oct. 1 for a possible 24 months of active duty.

An employee's induction will be regarded as a two-year leave of absence without pay, Tawes said Saturday. He said state agencies would be notified of the change by Russell S. Davis, commissioner of personnel.

The governor said he would sponsor legislation to extend to present employees privileges of reinstatement, seniority and retirement which applied during World War II.

"Men and women who are being called upon to serve their country at this time should be given every assurance that when this duty is fulfilled they will be able to return to state service without serious impairment of their employment status," Tawes said.

The letter to the governor was signed by commissioners Edmund L. Carr, Charles W. Saylor and Francis J. Crawford.

GOP Club To Resume Meetings

Group To Make Plans For Dance

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County will resume its monthly meetings tomorrow night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, according to Donald W. Mason, president.

Mr. Mason said a dinner will be held at 6 p. m. and the business meeting will start at 8 p. m. Those who are unable to attend the dinner are requested to try and be present for the business meeting, Mr. Mason said.

The program tomorrow night will include the presentation of certificates to 14 members of the club who successfully completed the "Action Course in Practical Politics" last month.

The club also will make plans for a dance which it will sponsor on Friday, September 29, at Ali Ghan Shrine Club and will hear a report on the recent Young Republicans convention. A discussion on the politics course also will be held.

Additional cigarette tax funds would be used for repairs, improvements and new roads in the county road system, they added.

"The schools of our county need funds vitally to build additional rooms on existing teaching facilities as well as helping establish a school of higher education," the commissioners said. They indicated some of the funds would be used for a new Allegany community college.

Additional projects mentioned were a study for the establishment of an additional source of water supply, a survey of the county sewerage system and to stock the county's new bookmobile.

The Carroll County commissioners said all of the James monies, save those included in the incentive fund for school construction, would be "used exclusively in teacher salary increases." The county expects to receive $247,408 under the program.

Entrance Test Will Aid New College Students

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series concerning the Allegany Community College and its objectives.)

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Virtually all students who enroll in the new Allegany Community College, which will open its doors on Monday, September 25, will be required to take entrance examinations tomorrow or Thursday at the college, 340 Frederick Street.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, the college president, explained yesterday that the only exception will be special students who may be taking a single course to fill some personal need. Such special students are not planning to take sufficient courses to eventually fulfill the requirements for a degree.

The three-hour test which the college will administer tomorrow and Thursday is one prepared by the American College Testing Service. It will be given both days from 9 a. m. until noon and again from 6 until 9 p. m. Wednesday.

This examination will cover areas—English, social studies, mathematics and natural science. Dr. Zimmer reminded students that this is not the type of test for which advanced preparation is helpful.

"What can you do with what you know?" is the question which the test will seek to answer, Dr. Zimmer emphasized. The tests will be graded locally so the faculty can get a preliminary understanding of the ability of the students.

However, through connection with this American College Testing Service, Dr. Zimmer will be able to send the test results to the University of Iowa for further research and analysis. The university will then offer advice on the type of curriculum the student should follow through college.

The college president explained that the matter of admission of students will be left with the college's committee on admissions. This committee will evaluate the student's high school record as well as the score made on the entrance examination. If the college has a program suitable for the student, he will be admitted.

Dr. Zimmer offered two illustrations. For one thing, no secretarial courses will be offered during the first year of the college's existence. Consequently, any young woman who would like a secretarial course would not be admitted.

Another young man is interested in beginning the study of engineering. An analysis shows that his high school scholastic record was very poor. The college would say such a student should not consider a career in engineering.

Sometimes, Dr. Zimmer said, students who seem like a poor risk for college work will be accepted on probation. Probation is automatic for any applicant who graduates in the lowest quarter of his high school class. Such a student may not register for more than 14 semester hours of credit.

Although some persons may think the Allegany Community College will grab any available students because of the short time to get ready for its first year of operation, Dr. Zimmer cautioned that the college still wants to exercise care in guiding its students because their future success will determine in part the future of the college.

Lonaconing Turns Down Pay Increase

No Action Planned On New Sidewalk

The mayor and council of Lonaconing met last night and turned down a request for a salary increase for town employees.

The request for the salary increase was made at a recent meeting and Mayor Virgil Alexander said last night he had made a check of the town budget and is not in favor of a pay hike at this time.

The council concurred and said requests for increase by employees should be made at budget setting time so the town tax rate could be considered.

The mayor and council also heard an opinion by James S. Getty, town attorney, on the granting of a town trading license to an ice cream vendor.

Exempt Locally
Mr. Getty explained under Maryland law anyone who obtains a Maryland traders license is exempt from obtaining a local license. Lonaconing cannot issue a permit to the ice cream vendor to trade in Lonaconing, since the vendor already has a state license which permits him to trade in the town.

At a previous meeting of the council, the State Roads Commission notified Lonaconing that immediate repairs are needed on the Union Street Bridge. Mayor Alexander said he plans to investigate further the condition of the bridge which was erected in 1911 in an effort to see what can be done about fixing the structure.

It was announced the town had recently complied with a request by the SRC to reduce the load limit on the bridge from 10 gross to five gross tons.

In other business at last night's meeting, the council took no action on completing the sidewalk from the point where the SRC installed the new walk from Valley High School to the town limits. Approximately 100 feet remains to be fixed within the town, but the council said it plans to wait because citizens are dissatisfied with the type of walk installed by the SRC.

Benjamin E. Zarger, commissioner of light and water, reported to the council that no action had been taken by the Potomac Edison Company on a request to install a light at the rear of East Main Street and another light at the rear of Railroad Street.

Relays Complaint
Mr. Getty also relayed a complaint to the council from Blaine Willetts, a school bus operator, who said someone had been stealing gasoline from his buses while they have been parked just outside the town. The council said the town police would make periodic checks and State Police also would be alerted to check the buses.

The congregation of St. Peter's Episcopal Church made an informal request that street in front of the church be named St. Peter's Court. At the present time the street is unnamed and the council told the congregation to make the request in writing so action may be taken.

In addition to Mayor Alexander and Mr. Zarger, others who attended the meeting were Commissioners James Berry, Harold W. Moyer and Alex E. Patton. The next meeting of the council will be September 25.
